Like Strong Coffee: a poem by Patrick Bruskiewich

In this world, unknown
the real becomes surreal, normal becomes absurd
Nothing is what it seems!

To live in this world,
the possible becomes the impossible the truth, anything but …
You try to hide form reality,

To escape all your thoughts
Then something strawberry appears!
Soft, sweet and succulent
Paris' match – Gaulique!

Like strong coffee … a cup Petite yet not so fragile.
Everything has changed, here is something I wish known

You try to hide
from your thoughts, but all you can imagine is sugar and spice …